New GAIL Program to Offer Health Care Guidance

by Virginia Beauchamp

A new program to ease concerns of residents suddenly confronted with the need to locate home health care providers, such as aides and practical or registered nurses, began in Greenbelt on June 1. The culmination of a year-long research process carried out by a special committee, the Home and Health Care Study Group (HHCSG), the Preferred Provider Program provides information on providers of such services who emerged from a careful screening process.

The goal of this program is to provide eligible Greenbelt residents access to affordable quality home healthcare services at a below-market rate. The Preferred Providers have submitted their responses to a request for proposal (RFP) that was sent to over 85 providers. The HHCSG has selected the top five candidates based on their written responses, financial stability, years of experience, references, staffing, training, disciplinary procedures and other factors. Monthly quality assurance reports are required.

The HHCSG, chaired by Thomas X. White, is a subcommittee of FORA (Friends of the Resource Advocate), which works with Christal Batey, director of the Greenbelt Assistance in Living Program (GAIL).

The first of its kind in Maryland, the Preferred Provider Program is another tool in the GAIL program's array of services to help residents remain in their homes.

The Preferred Provider Program offers several advantages to Greenbelt residents: guaranteed best prices; providers evaluated by the Greenbelt HHCSG; multiple payment options including Medicare, medical assistance, private pay and longterm care insurance plans; and resident satisfaction surveys.

Perry Becomes Youngest City Animal Control Officer

by Susie Hall

On May 22, seven-year-old Elaina Perry was honored for her continued contributions to the city's Animal Shelter by being made an Honorary Animal Control Officer.

At its meeting, the Greenbelt City Council recognized Elaina, who for her past two birthdays, instead of the toys, games and clothes a usual seven-year-old would want, has asked for pet food, cat litter, rawhide chews and squeaky toys. Her "birthday presents" have then been donated to the Greenbelt Animal Control program to help care for homeless animals in the city's shelter.

Animal lover Elaina, when asked why she did this, replied "I really have enough toys and this seemed like a good thing to do."

Council and everyone present at the meeting were very impressed by Elaina and her family and their caring devotion to Greenbelt's abandoned animals. The family, including parents Pam and Todd and brother Noah, have adopted several homeless animals over the years. Their current pets include two previously homeless dogs, Max and Cooper. Even Elaina's Aunt Carol has adopted a cat through the Greenbelt Animal Control program. Council and city staff said they were proud to present this status award to such a remarkable, thoughtful young girl.

SHLES Celebrates 40th Anniversary

This year marks the 40th anniversary of Springhill Lake Elementary School (SHLES) serving the needs of the children in the SHL community. On Friday, June 2 a celebration was held in the front parking lot of the school, including several student performances, food and games.

SHLES serves more than 700 students including a Head Start program, grades K to 5 and a culturally-diverse population representing more than 70 different countries. Carjacking Suspect Turns Himself In

On Thursday, June 1 at 9 p.m., Christopher Andre Gibson, 21, of 7919 Mandan Road, turned himself in to investigators at the Greenbelt Police Department. He was served with warrants charging him with the May 19 carjacking of a young mother in the 9200 block of Edmonston Road, as well as two armed robberies reported that day in the 9300 block of Edmonston Road.

The warrants charge Gibson with the following crimes pertaining to the carjacking – two counts of kidnapping, one count of carjacking, two counts first-degree assault, one count armed robbery, one count use of a hand-

Survey of City Services Released

The May 8 City Council meeting included a presentation by Assistant City Manager David Moran on the 2005 Election Questionnaire. The results and findings of the 2005 Election Survey were summarized in a booklet and distributed at the meeting. Chiaverini Senior Services International tabulated the survey data. There were 687 completed questionnaires, meaning that just 34.8 percent of the people who voted in 2005 took time to participate. Thirty-eight percent of all responses came from GHI; 45 percent of respondents have lived in Greenbelt more than 20 years. A key goal of the survey is for citizens to rate city services. The average rating of the services was 3.56 on a five-point scale. Senior Programs and Fire & Rescue were leaders, while Youth Center, Street Lighting and Springhill Lake Recreation Center were among the five lowest rated services in Greenbelt. For copies of survey results contact Moran at the city office.

Possibly Rabid Raccoon Appears at Church Mass

by Eileen Farnham and Judy Bell

Last Friday morning on June 2 St. Hugh's parishioners at the 7:15 morning Mass were startled during prayer by the arrival of a raccoon in their midst. In pleasant weather the church doors have been left open during Mass, which offered an entryway for this raccoon.

The animal's daytime appearance, looking decidedly ill, deformed or injured, left Mass attendees scrambling to stand on pews. It made its way to the baptistry in the front of the church. When a parishioner tried to shoo it outside, it turned and bit her shoe.

The raccoon did leave the church and was seen by St. Hugh's School personnel who called the police. It crossed the parking lot and school grounds, then disappeared into the woods. Staff at the fire house were alerted.

Adopted Cat Tests Positive for Rabies

On May 24, a 10 week old gray kitten was adopted from the Greenbelt PetSmart through Last Chance Animal Rescue. A few days afterward, the cat began behaving strangely and was brought back to Last Chance to be examined. While there, the cat bit the director of Last Chance, prompting a rabies test, which came back positive.

Anyone who believes they may have been bitten or scratched by the cat in question should call the Prince George's County Health Department at 301-883-7837 during business hours or 301-499-8400.

Greenbelt Holds Meeting Of Small Cities Council

by Sherry Conway Appel, NLC Staff

On the old sitcom "Cheers," everybody knew your name. The same can usually be said for life in a small town. Ed Putens, Greenbelt councilmember and chair of National League of Cities' (NLC) Small Cities Council, sums it up another way. "In small cities and towns, it's about a sense of community, a feeling of security and knowing almost everyone in town and, of course, they know you."

For children in a small town, everybody knowing your name can be both an advantage and a disadvantage. Coni J. Hadden, councilmember from Liberty, Mo., appreciated the fact that her neighbors "knew my children when they were walking to and from school. My kids knew other people noticed what they were doing."

Greenbelt will host the Annual NLC Small Cities Council Steering Committee meeting, which is traditionally held in the chair-man's hometown. Members for the NLC will meet and discuss common issues June 8-10. On Saturday, June 10 the National League of Cities will celebrate National Small Cities and Towns Day, recognizing the important role of small towns in American life and honoring the service of elected and appointed officials in those communities. Here in Greenbelt, the NLC visitors will tour the Greenbelt Museum and the Community Center as part of the showcasing of the community.

Cities and towns across America will hold festivals, host panel discussions on efforts to build more inclusive communities and conduct a variety of activities highlighting the special stature of this country's small cities.

"Small communities make up the fabric of American life," said NLC President James Hunt, Sorry to hear of the death of former Greenbelt Police Officer Edward “Danny” Blake.

Our sympathy to the family and friends of Elsie Forbes of Greendale Place on the sudden death of her son Michael Hoffman. He was also the brother of Rae Brooks of Greendale Place and the son of the late Michael (Milt) Hoffman of Greenbelt. Graveside memorial services were held June 5, 2006.

Congratulations to ERHS student Tina Olayimika, who received honorable mention and a $100 honorarium in the annual Gilder-Lehrman Institute of American History Civil War essay contest. Olayimika’s national award-winning essay was titled “The Emancipation Proclamation: Lincoln’s Stand Against Slavery.”

Welcome to Veronica Conkling from the Smithsonian’s Decorative Arts Masters program and Rachel Mirsky, a history major from Goucher College, who will be interning with the Greenbelt Museum this summer.

On June 11, 2006, residents of Green Ridge House will celebrate the building’s 27th anniversary. At the dedication ceremony in June 1977 there were more than 110 new residents. At the beginning of May of this year five remained until Sally Carrano moved to New York to live with her daughter. The other four are Bernice Bryant, James Casels, James Hudson and Louise Swiderski. They are called the “originals.” All have been and continue to be assets to Green Ridge House.

Congratulations to the students, faculty and support staff of Springhill Lake Elementary School upon the celebration of the school’s 40th anniversary.

A special plea has been made for O Negative blood, considered the universal donor because it can be transfused to virtually any patient. The Red Cross is currently offering all blood program participants a “Be the One We Count On” T-shirt and a chance to win $200 worth of free gas in a weekly drawing.

Lehman, a professor and the chair of the Department of Psychiatry at the University of Maryland School of Medicine in Baltimore. He is well-respected and has given “Ask the Doctor” meetings at other NAMI Maryland affiliates.

Some questions that might be asked are: What are the newest treatments? Are there new medications? If a loved one is having trouble with medication, what can be done? How can one deal with the negative symptoms of schizophrenia? What is the difference between schizophrenia and schizoaffective disorder? What can one realistically expect for a loved one’s recovery? Why is recovery so difficult? Why do people stop taking their meds?

The workshop will be held at the Hanco Building at Beckett Field, 8511 Legation Road, New Carrollton. Refreshments will be served. For more information call Jane Kelley at 301-577-6026.

Aussie Outback Up Front

“The Proposition,” opening at Old Greenbelt Theatre Friday, June 9 is set in the Australian outback in the 1880s. Hard-driving Capt. Morris Stanley (Ray Winstone) seeks to solve a recent rape and murder by putting the pressure on two scapegrace brothers (Guy Pearce and Richard Wilson) to find and do in the major suspect – their third sibling (Danny Huston). Ratcheting up matters: Sheriff Stanley is English, the brothers are Irish. The captain’s stylish wife (Emily Watson) and flower-bedecked home provide a contrast to the harsh landscape and the story’s bloody concerns. Australian director John Hillcoat worked with write-songwriter Nick Cave, who wove in Irish ballads sung by the campfire and otherwise added weight to the score. R, 104 minutes.

Edward "Danny" Blake

A former Greenbelt police officer, Edward Daniel Blake of Stevensville, Md., died Friday, June 2, 2006, of cancer. He was 58 years old.

Mr. Blake was born on Sept. 21, 1947, in Richwood, W.Va., the son of the late Leo and Edna Blake of Richwood. After graduating high school, he entered the Marine Corps in 1965 and served until 1969. In 1966 he served in Vietnam and was awarded the National Defense Service Medal, Vietnamese Service Medal with two stars, Vietnamese Campaign Medal with Device, Purple Heart Medal, Presidential Unit Citation, Good Conduct Medal and the Pistol Sharpshooter Badge.

In 1969 he married Nancy Ann Harvey of Richboro, Penna. In 1970 he graduated from the Anne Arundel Police Academy and worked in Crofton and Greenbelt as a police officer until his retirement in 1984. In Greenbelt he joined the police force as a dispatcher on December 10, 1971, and was sworn in as a police officer after completing police academy training on July 26, 1972. In 1981 and 1982, Mr. Blake was named Greenbelt policeman of the year and outstanding employee of the year. He retired from Greenbelt's police department August 1, 1984. Later he worked for area builders and owned his own handyman business, crafting custom-made furniture.

Mr. Blake was a member of the FOP and the American Legion. He loved his grandchildren, fishing and being in the West Virginia mountains.

In Memoriam – Bill Devlin

Bill Devlin died in early May 2006 in Florida, where he lived his entire adult life. He was 59 (same as me). Bill spent six of his childhood years growing up as a Greenbelt boy. It's been a long time, mind you, but when I think of him, I think of summer. I see his sun-bleached hair and his sun-burned red face and then I see that great smile and hear that quick laugh.

He liked to make fun of you not to laugh at you but with you. He was just as quick to make fun of himself and together you could have a little joke at life's expense. He was friends with Ricky Barber and Jimmy Hetzler from his neighborhood on Ridge Road and by extension a friend of mine, too, when I was a skinny kid growing up on Eastway.

From all I've gathered, he carried the spirit of Greenbelt well in Florida. His sister, Kathy Reynolds, said Bill just lived to make other people happy. He was a Santa Claus (that is he helped Santa by making personal appearances in his honor, kids!). Thousands of children sat on his lap (not all at one time, silly!) and related to him their wish lists for the season. He loved it, I think partly because like most of us who grew up here, he still kept and cherished the kid inside of him. (The little humorous aside above is the kind Bill liked.)

Bill had a heart attack in 2002 from which he never really recovered. Not long after, he developed pulmonary fibrosis which dictated oxygen for him at all times and took away nearly all of the activities on which he thrived. He was a decorated Marine and wounded in Vietnam. His ashes will be inurned at Arlington National Cemetery in September.

Kathy held a benefit dance at the Riverdale Pizza Pub at which our band performed. Those who attended contributed some $2,000 toward his expenses. I know some of you did not know Bill but you gave gladly for a fellow Greenbelter simply because we told you it was a worthy cause for a good guy. You marked him in this way as one of the family. I spoke to him on the phone then and he was just overwhelmed. I suppose I could brag of various associations throughout my life but none makes me more proud than to be a part of that same family. Greenbelt is great! Bill's brother Gary Devlin is still in the area. Bill's mother Adele, his son William Charles Devlin, Jr. and a younger brother Jack live in Florida.

An inclusive congregation!

We wonder many times why things happen, why did God allow them to happen?

We have seen the difference that just a few years makes between the understanding of a child and an adult. Likewise, we have to know that we humans, with our limited vision and understanding, cannot always understand what God in His infinite wisdom knows. God consoles us by saying, "... it is possible that you dislike a thing which is good for you and that you love a thing which is bad for you. But God knows and you know not."

councilmember from the small city of Clarksburg, W.Va. “In fact, a majority of U.S. cities are under 50,000 people. Every day, and in many small ways, small towns are making a difference and improving the quality of life for their citizens.”

Clay Ford, mayor pro tem of Gulf Breeze, Fla., thinks small towns are desirable because people “can call City Hall if they are upset and they know someone will listen.” It’s that feeling of connection, that access to decision makers that builds trust and gets people involved in the democratic process. Being closer to those providing city services also leads to more people knowing what their taxes are paying for according to Scott Ford, Dade City commissioner and Small Cities Council vice chair.

Families are a big part of the equation when it comes to living in small cities. “Raising another generation with the same sense of caring for others, particularly for our youth and our seniors – that’s what it’s all about,” notes Putens.

GIVES Meeting Sat.

The GIVES annual meeting will be held Saturday, June 10 at 10 a.m. in the Community Center.

Pro Bono Counseling Available in Maryland

The Pro Bono Counseling Project provides free mental health services for elderly victims of abuse, neglect or financial exploitation in Maryland. It serves a wide variety of clients’ needs: family and couple issues, anxiety, self-esteem and social interaction problems, eating disorders, adjustments to terminal illness, grief, separation and divorce, physical and sexual abuse and other forms of violence. The staff is available to resolve any questions or problems that may arise.

The Pro Bono Counseling Project is a network and support system for participating mental health professionals. In addition, it provides a Family Violence Prevention Program for the elderly and underserved. This program links victims and/or family members with a mental health professional at no cost.

The project does not provide a crisis/hotline service, nor treatment for patients with chronic mental illness or disorders due to drug and/or alcohol abuse. A licensed clinician will process prospective participants for eligibility and will link their need to the clinician’s specialty.

Call the Pro Bono Project toll free at 1-877-323-5800 for more information or to schedule

Amended bylaws will be available at the meeting and further bylaw changes will be presented. Annual reports will be presented by the GIVES chairperson and office manager.

All members and anyone interested in joining are encouraged to attend.

Capture

Later Friday afternoon the story took another turn when Bill Cornett saw an extremely sick raccoon, presumably the same one, in the creek behind 36 Lakeside. He already knew about the morning incident and that the police had been looking for the raccoon between the St. Hugh’s parking lot and the fire house.

He reports: “I was walking along the lake path and heard the weirdest cry coming from the creek. After deciding it wasn’t a bird, I went back to investigate and saw the waterlogged creature. It was so bad off it could hardly move, it just lay in the water and periodically gave off with a loud, painful cry. I called Animal Control on my cell phone and kept the raccoon in sight until Susie Hall got there.”

“Capturing the raccoon was not a challenge since there was no question of the animal’s moving fast enough to get away. The Animal Control officer said that it could also have distemper or some other illness but rabies was near the top of the list.”

Cornett goes on to warn, “Watch your pets and keep away from wild animals. When I review the overnight recordings from my video security system, I see lots of free-roaming cats. If one of them should get in a tussle with an infected animal or eat off of an infected dead carcass and carry the disease back to the family, that could cause a huge tragedy.”

This is not the only report of a possibly rabid raccoon. About two weeks ago Virginia Beauchamp of Maplewood Court found a dead raccoon in the morning near the front corner of her house. There was no visible sign of injury.

Anyone observing the daytime appearance of raccoons should be alert to potential danger. Such an animal may be aggressive and/or rabid. Those seeing a fearless or oddly-behaving raccoon or any nocturnal animal during the day should not approach it and should immediately call 301-474-6124. At night and on the weekend the non-emergency number at the Greenbelt Police Department may be reached at 301-474-7200.

Patient Success Stories at Our Clinic

When I first came to Dr. Bezak, I had terrible lower back and leg pain. I was unable to stand up straight and could barely walk. So, I gave Chiropractic a try and just after a few weeks of treatment, I was pain free. Now it has been six months and I haven’t had the pain since. Thank you Dr. Bezak. John

I came to Dr. Krol with severe migraine headaches that started years ago. I tried everything for my headaches, and was convinced that nobody could help me. I began therapy with Dr. Krol four weeks ago and I have noticed significant improvement. Thanks Dr. Krol. Christina

I came to Bezak Chiropractic with severe neck and shoulder pain. I could not turn my neck to drive. I was unable to work out or play sports. My friend told me to see a Chiropractor. I started treatment and noticed a difference after the first week. I followed Dr. Bezak’s recommendations, and I am now pain free! Thank you so much. David

Four months ago, I was in an automobile accident. After two weeks of waiting for my pain to subside, it had actually gotten worse. I consulted with Dr. Bezak and he educated me about my condition. I started treatment and almost immediately began feeling like myself again after a short period of time. Thanks Dr. Bezak. Latasha

Greenbelt Employee Receives Award

Communications Specialist II Shaniya Lashley-Mullen was named Civilian of the Year at the Police Chiefs' Association of Prince George's County Annual Awards Program held May 24 at the Prince George's Ballroom in Landover.

Lashley-Mullen, who has been employed by the Greenbelt Police Department since 2002, was nominated by Communications Supervisor Alicia Coville for her exemplary performance. She has been a model employee and a leader within the communications unit, "stepping up to the plate" to fill many vacancies during critical shortages in communications. Ensuring that there is proper coverage in the unit often means sacrificing time away from her family.

Lashley-Mullen has received two formal recognitions – a letter of commendation for her performance during a high-speed pursuit involving felonious assault suspects who attempted to strike an officer and a letter of appreciation for her efforts in helping to locate a missing autistic child on the evening of April 18, 2005.

She was also recognized for her training of new dispatchers, never complaining of the increased workload necessary to train new personnel.

Kenilworth Median Upgrades Start Soon

The Kenilworth Avenue (MD 201)/I-495 Interchange Environmental Restoration and Beautification Gateway Project is a Prince George's County Livable Communities Initiative. The objective of this project is to improve the aesthetic, as well as environmental quality of the MD 201 median between Crescent Road in Greenbelt and Pontiac Street in Berwyn Heights and at the four interchange loops of the MD 201/I-495 Interchange.

The project, which is scheduled to begin soon, entails construction stakeout, excavation, grading, construction of curbs and gutters, a closed storm drainage system, two brick gateway signs, bioretention facilities, filter swales, sediment and erosion control, landscaping, associated site improvement and all associated appurtenances and incidentals.

gun during commission of a felony, two counts second-degree assault, one count transporting a handgun in a vehicle, two counts false imprisonment and one count theft. In addition he was charged with two counts each of armed robbery and first-degree assault and one count use of a handgun during commission of a felony for the two armed robberies in the 9300 block of Edmonston Road.

Gibson was released to the Department of Corrections for a hearing before a district court commissioner and for service of the warrants.

New Ambulance Arrives

Greenbelt was among the eight stations in Prince George's County to receive the first ambulances from the Ambulance Replacement Program. The county has purchased 70 new ambulances to be used as basic, paramedic and reserve ambulances. Greenbelt's new ambulance went into service on May 17. Three volunteers from Greenbelt ran the first call which afforded the opportunity to put the ambulance through its paces. The crew transported a patient involved in a bicycle accident to a local trauma center. The ambulance performed beautifully and has a much smoother ride for patients in the back.

GAC’s “Equus” Performance Is Flawless

by Carol Griffith

The last performance of Greenbelt Art Center’s 2005-06 season, “Equus,” currently playing at the Greenbelt Arts Center, is a flawless production – acted and staged beautifully. The play, which takes place in a psychiatric hospital in the United Kingdom, opens with Magistrate Hester Salomon (played by Patti Restivo) bringing a new patient to her friend, Dr. Dysart, in charge of the hospital. She begs him to admit the 17-year-old boy, named Alan Strang, since the doctor “is the only one who can help him.” Alan, a stablehand, has just blinded six horses in a terrible act of violence. Dr. Dysart (wonderfully played by John Decker) consents. And so begins an intense relationship that will cause Dysart to suffer personal and professional doubts while he treats, and ultimately helps, Alan. Alan is played exceptionally well by Stephen Backus. He has mastered portraying the vulnerable adolescent part of the character, as well as the very disturbed aspects of his personality, and has perfected an unnervingly malevolent stare. Alan’s parents, Dora (played by Barbara Ying) and Frank Strang (played by Sandy Irving in half of the performances) expose their marital and personal problems which have played a part in Alan’s illness. Also contributing to the portrayal of Alan’s character is the owner of the stable who hired Alan, played by Dave Wisdom and Alan’s girlfriend, Jill Mason, well-played by Allison Plourde. Jill and Alan’s nude scene, integral to the dramatic ending, is handled tastefully. The “horses,” believable in their artistically crafted horses’ heads, are played by Nigel Parkinson, Jr., Melanie Jester and stage manager Malca Giblin. “Equus” is directed by Jeffery Lesniak and produced by Bea-triz Mayoral, who also plays Dr. Dysart’s nurse. It continues at the Greenbelt Arts Center, 123 Centerway, on June 9, 10, 16, 17, 23 and 24 at 8 p.m. Matinees at 2 p.m. will be performed on June 11 and 18. Tickets may be obtained by calling the box office at 301-441-8770. Because of strong language and adult situations, no children under the age of 17 will be admitted without a parent.

In Greenbelt Arts Center’s performance of “Equus,” Dr. Dysart (John Decker) treats Alan Strang (Stephen Backus) in a series of dramatic interactions.

It Added Up to What?

City Councilmember Ed Putens has a jaw-dropping moment when his bids are totaled up at the St. Hugh’s charity auction that took place on Saturday, May 6 at Grenoble Hall. Funds from the auction will go to St. Hugh’s School.

Schools Adopt New Wellness Program

The Prince George's County Board of Education approved a wellness, nutrition and physical activity policy for Prince George's County Public Schools (PGCPS) during the May 18 board meeting. By establishing a school wellness policy prior to the next school year, the board fulfilled its obligation under state and federal law to support wellness activities for students.

On June 30, 2004, the President signed the Child Nutrition and WIC (Women, Infants and Children) Reauthorization Act of 2004. School districts must set goals for nutrition, education, physical activity, campus food provision and other school-based activities designed to promote student wellness. Additionally, districts are required to involve a broad group of individuals in policy development and to have a plan for measuring policy implementation.

The Prince George's County School Health Council was charged with crafting a policy with input from school and community stakeholders. An Internet survey was conducted on the school system's website, gathering input from nearly 5,000 respondents. Almost half of the web surveys were completed by students.

The board used this and other information to design a policy that promotes the development of lifelong healthy habits. The PGCPS Food and Nutrition Services Department employs a fulltime registered dietician who analyzes all menu items for nutritional integrity. Currently, no foods are deep-fried and schools offer a variety of healthy choices in the cafeteria and vending machines.

Recognizing that significant research supports a positive relationship between good nutrition, increased physical activity and academic success, the board directed its chief executive officer to complete the following: ensure that all schools participate in the National School Lunch and School Breakfast Programs; promote the physical, mental and social health of students through a coordinated school health program; enforce the current health education and physical education requirements as mandated by the Maryland State Department of Education; conduct a study to consider increasing the number of credits in health education and physical education required for high school graduation; provide a safe, healthful and pleasant environment with adequate time and space to eat, socialize and participate in a quality physical education program; and include separate facilities for physical education and food services in all new construction.

The board also directed the CEO to develop an administrative procedure for this policy to include nutrition education goals, physical activity goals, nutrition standards, other school-based activities and evaluation.

Plan Now to Host Exchange Student

Pacific Intercultural Exchange (P.I.E.) is looking for families to host high school students from various countries for the 2006-2007 academic year.

P.I.E. is a nonprofit 501(3)c educational organization that matches local volunteer families with young ambassadors from around the world. It is an accredited program with the Council on Standards for International Educational Travel and is an approved Department of State placement organization.

There is no such thing as a typical host family. Whether working or retired, married or single, with small children, teens or no children at all, anyone can have and provide a great experience hosting an exchange student. Hosts are needed immediately for students who will arrive in August and stay until June of 2007. Previous hosting experience is not necessary. P.I.E. provides orientation and local support for host families.

All the students are between the ages of 15 and 17, speak English and have medical insurance. These young people come to America in order to experience life in a democratic society. For more information call Dawna at 800-637-0217 or 817-558-2337 or email her at dawna@azmail.net.

First Public Charter Schools Approved

The Prince George's County Board of Education recently approved three applications to operate the county's first public charter schools.

The board approved the applications of Potomac Charter School in Fort Washington, Turning Point Academy in Lanham and EXCEL Academy in Riverdale after a comprehensive review in accordance with the Maryland Public Charter School Act.

Potomac and EXCEL plan to use the Literacy First Process, a research-based instructional process. They also will utilize the Calvert curriculum from the internationally accredited Calvert School in Baltimore. Turning Point Academy's curriculum will focus on character education, family renewal and college preparation.

All three schools plan to open in August. Potomac and EXCEL plan to serve students in kindergarten to grade 5 and expand through grade 8. Turning Point Academy plans to serve students in grades K-3 and will add a grade each year until it serves K-6.

Open enrollment for the charter schools has ended. For more information about the schools, see www.pgcp.org/~charter or call 301-952-6010.

PUBLIC SAFETY IS A COLLECTIVE RESPONSIBILITY!
